THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1896

FOR MAYOR:

FLAVIUS O. BEAL.

A Republican State Convention

WILL BE HELD IN

City Hall, Portland,

THURSDAY, APRIL 16th, 1896.

At Eleven O'clock A. M.

For the purpose of selecting six candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President, and for the election of a large and influential delegation to attend the National Republican Convention, to be held in St. Louis, and transmitting any other business that any party can bring.

The grounds of representation will be as follows: each City, Town and Plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and each county, two delegates, to be voted for the National Delegation to Governor for 1896, an additional delegate, to be chosen, and an additional delegate.

Vacancies in the delegation of any City, Town or Plantation will be filled by a resident of the County to which the vacancy exists.

The State convention will be held in the City of Portland, on the first of June, 1896, in the hall of the Hotel Atlantic, for the purpose of selecting the candidates to be eligible to participate in the convention, and to elect the delegates to the national convention.

For the election of the State Delegation, the State Convention will be held in the City of Portland, on the first of June, 1896, in the hall of the Hotel Atlantic, for the purpose of selecting the candidates to be eligible to participate in the convention, and to elect the delegates to the national convention.

Presidential Electors must all be chosen in State Convention.

H. C. COOPER, Secretary

RECEIVED JAN. 28, 1896.

ALBION, MAINE, JAN. 28, 1896.

To the Republicans of Maine:—Peter C. B. 1922
two Presidential electors of the state were nominated in State Convention, and the remaining electors were nominated in the fall of 1895. The Republican National Committee for the Republicans in the State Convention, and the Republican State delegation to the national convention.

The members of the Australian Ballot Law have changed the procedure. Under the new system, and this ballot act requires that candidates be voted for by the voters, and not by the electors, the electors are to be chosen by a convention representing 100,000 of the attorney that the state will be represented by the presidential electors, and must be nominated in State Convention, and I have therefore, advised in the ballot.

J. H. MANLEY, Chairman

The Record is Made.

President Cleveland is reported as saying that the Democrats can win this year on a sound money platform with the right candidate. He fails to give any information on the last named point, but he can succeed in side-tracking so far as the convention is concerned, "as he has championed since he entered public life, he seems to be willing to concede that he is the 'right' candidate." Boal's

The very fact that Cleveland, whose principal stock in trade has been a stubborn adherence to any kind of party policy that he happened to adopt, is not only ready, but eager to drop the tariff question, is conclusive proof of the unpopularity of his famous free trade policies. It has taken a very brief period of actual experience to convince the country of the unsoundness of the Democratic policy in this direction.

Having decided that there is no hope for the party in a campaign fought on the tariff issue the President is now bending his energies toward a sound money platform. But this is simply the ostrich idea of thinking itself safe if its head is hidden. The President loses sight of the fact that the people have no faith whatever in the platform pledges of the Democratic party. Even if the so-called sound money element should succeed in getting a specific declaration in the platform, instead of the shrill of 1892, it would be fully contributed by the free silver record of the party. At this session of Congress while the Republicans in the Senate gave a majority of 8 against free coinage the Democrats gave a majority of 9 for it. In the House the Republican majority against the free coinage substitute for the bond bill was 105, the Democratic majority in favor of it 33. Ever since Mr. Cleveland has been in the White House if the solution of the question had depended upon the Democrats a free silver bill would have been adopted. In face of these facts a sound money declaration in the Democratic platform would be supremely ridiculous. It would only mean another attempt to baffle the people, but that sort of thing has already been overdone by the party.

Trying to Get a Candidate.

The Democratic caucus postponed from time to time will meet this evening. The present Mayor, Dr. Coe, General Roberts and other members of the party have been urged to accept the nomination, but according to custom report yesterday all efforts had failed to induce any of the gentlemen named to enter the field and as a last resort Mr. Levi B. Fatten had been agreed upon. If this programme is carried out the Republicans will have a regular walk-over.

The Fact About the Tariff.

The New York Tribune says: The human mind does not seem always to run with readiness. Hence a question which is part of the National life on all its sides, and on every side a vital part, does not get fully stoned at one glance, nor by some minds even. A shrewd writer begs to have it explained how the Democratic party can be hostile to protection while the only tariff it has enacted for nearly forty years is denounced by most Democrats, and admitted by opponents to be packed with protective duties, and wants to know if the Democracy has not in fact been whipped out of its hostility to protection, so that the only issue has come to be one of details and expediency, and not of principle. Apparently there are many observers and writers whose minds are mixed up in the same fashion—but not the minds of wage-earners—but

The Democratic party is not an individual, with one mind to decide on every point. It is a body composed of millions, whose shades of opinion and prejudices and purposes are also millions. But the overwhelming purpose, resolved in the platform of the last National Convention was to get rid of protective duties as far and fast as possible, and on the highest ground of principle—namely, pretended constitutional obligation and a theory of justice as between classes and sections. Nobody can honestly deny that this was the deliberate intention of the great majority of Democratic voters, as of Democratic leaders and leaders at that time, and expressed their rooted convictions, however sprouting. There is no evidence that the purpose of the great majority has changed in the least, though a minority large enough to beat the party in every Northern State refuse to break away from it.

The tariff enacted in 1890 is full of protective duties, and yet bears testimony to the unchanged spirit and per-

Trust What Time Has Endorsed

There is not a medicine in use public to so great an extent as Dr. Emerson's ANODYNE LINIMENT. For more than eighty years it has stood upon its own intrinsic worth and merit, while generations after generations have used and transmitted the knowledge of its properties to their children as a valuable inheritance. The best evidence of its extraordinary value is the fact that in the State where it originated it is still the leading family medicine. The sale thereof is steadily increasing.

This certifies that Dr. A. Johnson, whose residence is in Bangor, Me., has for the last month or two been giving to my store some of the best and most valuable liniment for sale. I thank the public for its marked regard of Dr. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, and I would advise all to use it, as it is a safe, sound, and reliable medicine, and should every family keep a bottle of it.

It was invented by the late Dr. Johnson, of Bangor, Me., an old fashioned, good hearted, patriotic Physician, who, it is recommended by physicians everywhere, it is wonderful power and praise it gives.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment

Every Mother should keep it in the house, suffering children love it. It purifies and cures every disease in the system, and thus cures disease, electric charges, even though it eradicates inflammation without irritation.

I have made a good number of cures, and have not had a single failure. Have not I a right to say that it is a safe, sound, and reliable medicine? I thank the public for its marked regard of Dr. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, and I would advise all to use it, as it is a safe, sound, and reliable medicine.

The members' social at the Young Men's Christian Association Friday evening promises to be a very pleasant event and preparations for that kind of an occasion are being made. A fine musical programme is being arranged and refreshments are to be served. All members with their lady friends are invited.

There have been received at the East Orlando fish hatchery recently several packages of fish eggs from Europe, one from Switzerland and the other from Belgium. They came to Bucksport by express and instantly upon their arrival were hurried off to the hatchery. The eggs were found to be in good condition after their long journey.

A fire alarm was hung in from box 63 early last evening occasioned by a slight blaze in the house on Harlow street owned by Morse & Co., nearly opposite Spring street. It was the tenement occupied by Mr. Jellison's family. A girl dropped a lamp and it set fire to the carpet. The water was not turned on, the flames being extinguished by the chemicals.

Mr. Henry R. Bradley and Dr. Hayward Stetson returned last evening from Kittery. They had been in Cunningham's camp above Northwest Carr for a few days when Dr. Stetson was attacked with pneumonia. He was removed to Northwest Carr and a Greenville physician sent for him. He rapidly recovered from the attack and came down from Kittery yesterday as stated.

Morse & Co. have gotten settled in their magnificent new offices at their extensive plant on Valley avenue, all the interior finish being on. The firm moved in partially some ten days ago. The office building is one of the finest in this part of the country and has been fully described in THE WHIG. It is quite in accord with the usual enterprise and spirit of progress displayed by this company.

Quite a job is being done at the Exchange street yard of the Maine Central railroad in this city, where a large part of the ledge on the side towards the street above the freight shed is being blasted away for the purpose of making more room for side tracks. The job is done there will be room for a considerable additional length of track. Quite a crew is at work on the job.

The work in preparation for the new railroad bridge to be put in between Bangor and Brewer is at present suspended and it is understood that the new structure will not be put in until after the ice in the river leaves. The liability of the ice hangs up river coming down and causing trouble. There is no considerable freshet is one of the causes of the suspension of work, it is said.

The funeral of the late Mr. Oscar S. Weston took place yesterday afternoon at Hampden. Rev. Mr. Bartlett of St. John's Episcopal church officiated. The Apollo Quartette sang several selections. A delegation from Oriental Lodge, I. O. O. F. of this city, were present and the burial service of the order was held. The interment was at Mt. Hope cemetery. Mr. Abel Hoyt had charge of the funeral.

The entertainment at the Columbia street Capital church this evening is expected to be one of much enjoyment. Part first will consist of motion songs, by children, reading and vocal music. Part second will be an "Old Folks" concert, in costume, and this part will certainly be "queer, quaint and curious." Selections will be read from a New York newspaper printed in 1800, in which the death of George Washington is referred to at length, also from the Weekly Register, published in Bangor, when Maine was a province of Massachusetts. Supper will be served from 6:30 to 7, to be followed by the entertainment.

On the side of the Atlantic the subject of legal education is receiving the attention which its importance demands. Our legal journals are replete with essays and discussions on the subject. The American Bar Association has created a separate section called the Section of Legal Education, which includes among its members some of the most distinguished teachers in our law schools. The members of this section are fully agreed to attend the annual meeting of the bar, and to the fact that the standards which have heretofore prevailed are no longer adequate to meet the demands of modern life. That this recognition of the need of a more thorough and systematic preparation for the practice of law is not confined to this side of the Atlantic is shown by the address of the Lord Chief Justice of England, which he delivered before the Council of Legal Education, in October last, upon this subject.

His final admission that the Inns of Court, "the noblest nurseries of humanity and liberty," in whose hands has rested for centuries the power to prescribe the conditions on which candidates shall be called to the English Bar, have failed in their duty to keep pace with modern requirements, and to deal with the matters of legal education in the comprehensive way in which the interests of the profession and the public require, will be a matter of surprise to many lawyers in America, who have naturally assumed that the standard of legal education in England was higher than in this country.

The numerous industries which have been established as the result of the building of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad call for varied machinery and appliances. The region for one thing will produce more railroad ties than all the rest of New England. The business will be done on a large scale. There was shipped from the Bangor & Aroostook Iron Works in this city Wednesday a railroad tie machine devised and manufactured by this company, especially to meet the demands of the northern Maine makers and dealers. It will do all the work heretofore done by a workman with a broad axe and make a much better tie. It is expected also to cheapen the cost of production very materially. If it meets the expectations of the company by which it was made, and its builders, it will result in the general introduction of machinery in railroad tie making in northern Maine.
